Rudolph Foods Helps Amplify Largest Pork Rind Festival in the Nation

The Pork Rind Heritage Festival in Harrod, OH, is anticipated to be bigger and better this year bringing family-centered activities and fun snacking for all.

Lima, OH (June 7, 2023) - Rudolph Foods, the world's largest manufacturer of pork rinds, will once again participate as a key sponsor in the annual Heritage Pork Rind Festival in downtown Harrod, Ohio, June 9-10, 2023. The festival prides itself on providing a weekend of family fun and bringing people from all over the region into their local community to showcase Allen County, Ohio at its best. The festivities will occur throughout the weekend in downtown Harrod.

The two-day event includes Friday night fireworks, live entertainment, train rides, a beer garden, craft show, car show, corn hole tournament, a karate presentation, carnival games, pony rides, and of course, a pork rind eating contest!

The festival began in 1989, during the Village of Harrod, Ohio, Centennial celebration. As a result of its overwhelming success, it then turned into an annual event with the continued support of Rudolph Foods. Each year the festival has grown into a bigger and better celebration, as awareness and love of the almighty pork rind has also grown.

"The Pork Rind festival is an official kick-off to Summer in this area. It's a time where the community comes together to celebrate," says Morgan Searfoss, Manager, Employee Relations & Compensation. "When I started working at Rudolph Foods many years ago, I was new to the area and was really impressed how the company continued to be a large sponsor to the village festival. Rudolph Foods continues to support the festival and community in so many ways, and I am personally extremely grateful to get to be a part of it!"
